

MEMPHIS APPEAL
MEMPHIS.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1866.

Correspondents must bear in mind the fact of writing on one side only of the sheet, in order to enable us to make use of their favors.

The Memphis Weekly Appeal, containing, in addition to one of Bill Arp's most admirable letters, a summary of the week's news, and an interesting reading matter, etc., etc., is issued this morning, and may be had at the printing room down up in strong wrappers ready for mailing.

We had contemplated ourselves that, with the ending of the war, disputes about the meaning of the Constitution, would be at an end, also. The vexed question of the "reconstruction" of the South has given rise to so much squabbling, and finally to a bloody war, has been settled. There is no such "right" as "possible reconstruction" in the Constitution. But in the place of the "reconstruction" of '63, we now have the "second section" authorizing Congress to carry out the first section by "appropriate legislation." Now, what is that? It is a question as to whether the "appropriate legislation" is about as open a question as was the doctrine of "State Sovereignty."

We never expected to have the end of it. But to make confusion worse, there are now proposed by the radicals some twenty or thirty more amendments, which if adopted, will make the Constitution such a place of patch work that even the professional politicians will hardly be able to make head or tail of it. We are glad to see that the radicals have put his foot down against such tinkering, and as the sober good sense of the people, or rather the sense of the Legislature, may have to put up with what quibbling they may be able to make out of the "second section."

"TID-BILLS." We believe it was JOHN HAMMOND, or some other man of extreme Southern views in South Carolina, who very many years ago, being grieved by the opposition of the Southern States to the admission of new States to the Union, conceived the idea of a "tid-bill," which would give to the Southern States the right to secede at will, and as the "tid-bill" was accepted, even in South Carolina, the interpretation of the popular sentiment there, as regards the "tid-bill," was that it was a "tid-bill" for secession, and not a "tid-bill" for admission.

But few persons were granted on Saturday, although a large number are ready for the signature of the President, and many more are in preparation.

A man, whose wife had abandoned him two years ago taking with her two children, blew his brains out in the city of New York, and was buried in the city of New York.

Two hundred and thirty thousand dollars worth of bonds have been sent to banking houses in San Francisco, through a nephew of Gen. Shields.

A special to the New York Commercial says that Gen. Lee is in Georgetown, and is expected to leave for the city of Washington, and is expected to leave for the city of Washington, and is expected to leave for the city of Washington.

The Cincinnati Enquirer says that the Committee in charge with the examination of the charges made by Gen. Sherman, report that they are not true.

A man named George Lilly was killed in a drunken row in St. Louis on Saturday. The murderer escaped, and is now in the city of St. Louis, and is now in the city of St. Louis, and is now in the city of St. Louis.

Two men from Canada who arrived in Cincinnati recently to better their fortunes, were dragged and robbed in that city on Saturday. The young men were taken to the city of Cincinnati, and were taken to the city of Cincinnati, and were taken to the city of Cincinnati.

Gen. Rose, late of the Confederate army, arrested for treason, appeared at Louisville, and gave ten thousand dollars for his appearance. He has full pardon from the President.

A special dispatch from St. Paul, Iowa, says a bill passed the Senate to allow Ramsey county to issue fifty thousand dollars of bonds for the purpose of building a new bridge across the Mississippi above Fort Snelling.

The Washington Republican of Saturday evening, a paper which has ever maintained the extreme view of politics, and entirely devoid of the least touch of moderation, for its attack upon the President.

Two drunken men appear to have entered a house in Nashville by mistake. They were fired at three or four times by the inmates, and one of them was killed. The other was taken to the city of Nashville, and was taken to the city of Nashville.

The Canadian, it appears, have been cruelly hoaxed, and are most anxious to return to their country, and are most anxious to return to their country, and are most anxious to return to their country.

The military Commission at St. Louis, lately presided over by Rev. Brig-Gen. Beveridge, of the Seventeenth Illinois Cavalry, has been dissolved. The examination was waived, and the soldiers were to be mustered out some time ago.

The largest assembly known in a long time called on the President on Saturday. All the bills were thronged, and the President was seen by the people, and the President was seen by the people, and the President was seen by the people.

On Saturday the President's Bureau at Washington received news from the South, that the President was seen by the people, and the President was seen by the people, and the President was seen by the people.

The latest news from Spain is that Gen. Prim is going ahead. Instead of flying into France, he is raising the whole country. He is raising the whole country, and he is raising the whole country, and he is raising the whole country.

Col. Whitfield, Assistant Commissioner of Freedmen for North Carolina, testified at some length before the Reconstruction Committee as to the condition of affairs in that State. His evidence, on the whole, was unfavorable to the radicals, and was favorable to the freedmen by the resident population was successful.

SOUTHERN SOLDIERS' HOME.
Said, August 1. I have received from Mrs. Langston, of Brownsville, Texas, three hundred and forty dollars, the proceeds of a concert, which this noble Christian lady and the sweetest of mothers, Mrs. Langston, have given for the benefit of the Soldiers' Home. May Heaven bless these ladies, and all who sympathize with our unfortunate soldiers.

Prior to this, Brownsville had contributed nearly two hundred dollars to the same cause. Well done to Brownsville! She will always get my vote. Mrs. Langston and the young ladies have our thanks for the interest they are manifesting for the Home.

We have previously mentioned a beautiful lot of ground with a good spring of water, about four and a half miles from the city. The contract for putting up suitable buildings was made on the 1st of January, and is now in the hands of a good carpenter of this city. We hope very soon to be able to transfer our men from the Home of the Invalids to the Soldiers' Home.
